NOTED BELGIANS HAVE GREAT TRIP

MOST POPULAR PASSENGERS
ABOARD THE VESSEL ON THEIR RECENT VOYAGE
TO UNITED STATES.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium, after a week at sea on their way to America, became the most popular persons on board the George Washington. It is possible to expect that quiet, modest, likable boy whom they call Prince Leopold, heir apparent to the Belgian throne. Each had some personal contact with officers and men and in every quarter the opinion was expressed that while maintaining their official dignity they were as one Southern belle. They were as "mishy good folks."

One warm afternoon the king with Admiral Loring, Captain McCauley and a member of his suite, was playing "deck tennis." All the men played with experts at the game and the play was so close the king manifested deep interest. At length it came the king's turn to serve, and looking the field over, he removed his blouse of a lieutenant general, and resumed play in his shirt sleeves. It happened that the official photographer was handy and the scene was preserved for posterity.

Queen Elizabeth is an accomplished photographer and has taken many photographs since coming on board. She knows light effects, position and all the other things which most amateurs lack, and while in Brussels keeps one man pretty busy developing and printing her pictures. During the games between the king and his friends, she got a number of snaps, and was herself photographed one day while she focused her camera on the royal party.

It was apparent from the beginning of the voyage that the Queen was not to appear prominently in the news reports, it being made known to the correspondents that she did not particularly care for publicity of the intimate sort. But she did not hide herself, going to all parts of the ship and manifesting the liveliest interest in the sailors and soldiers.

In company with her lady in waiting, Countess Carman-Chimay, she visited the sickbay and expressed her sympathy for the men who were ill. Her experience in the Belgian hospitals during the war told her the sickbay was ideally equipped, and she congratulated the medical force in charge.

In her apartments the Queen maintained the atmosphere of her home, and one of the officers who dined with the royal family said of it afterward:

"It was just like going into the home of any other well bred family. The King and Queen made us feel at home, and in five minutes we were chatting away just as we would if we were at the table of one of our old friends. To me it seemed that these royal people of little Belgium were cultured and refined and very human. I will remember that dinner as one of the most pleasant experiences of my military life."

One day on board, and officers having been selected to dine with the King, missed his invitation, and knowing of the honor, went as usual to the big mess room for his evening meal. He had just eaten his fill when the courier came to tell him the royal family was waiting him in the dining room. He had dined sumptuously, but there was nothing else for it, and he had to eat another dinner.

Queen Elizabeth won the hearts of the sailors when she appeared at the games in honor of her son, wearing one of the little round white hats the jacks like so well to wear in summer. She had draped it with a white veil, but through the gauze the sailors saw the mark of their rank and they were immensely pleased.

Prince Leopold saw all there was to see about the ship. He is still a student at Eton, but was given shore leave in order that he might accompany his parents to America. He is a quiet, bright-eyed boy of 18 with a pleasant smile and a perfect command of English. He is fond of athletics, but admitted one day, while chatting with the correspondents on deck, that he is an expert in none. His eyes sparkled when asked what he most desired to see in America, and he promptly answered "The Rocky Mountains and the delta of the Mississippi."

Prince Leopold has no position in the army other than that of a private soldier in the Twelfth Infantry, the uniform of which he wears. His blouse is cut to the regulations and on his sleeve are the numerals "12." When he has completed his classical education in England, it is understood he will enter the Belgian military college, after which he will be eligible to a commission. Until then, however, he is "Private, the Duke of Brabant."

CONFERENCE TENSE OVER STEEL STRIKE

THE PRESIDENT SAYS STRIKE
SITUATION SHOULD NOT EN-DANGER RESULTS OF CONFERENCE.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Despite his illness, President Wilson was understood to have been informed of the tense situation in the conference resulting from the controversy over labor's proposal for arbitration of the steel strike. He was said to feel that this should not endanger the ultimate success of the conference.

Further efforts to reach an agreement were made at meetings of the conference delegates this morning. The specific scheme discussed was the postponement of consideration of the steel strike arbitration resolution until agreement should be reached on the fundamental issue of shop and industrial councils, as the means of arbitrating all industrial disputes.

A movement for a postponement of the steel strike issue was initiated by members of the group representing the public and it has the approval of Secretary Lane, the conference chairman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Efforts by the employees group at the industrial conference to force to an immediate issue labor's proposal that the steel strike be arbitrated failed today, the labor group and all of the public group, except Herbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel Corporation, voting to postpone action until tomorrow. The conference adjourned until 2:30 p. m. tomorrow, when the arbitration resolution will be brought to a vote.

HISTORIANS ARE BUSY WRITING WAR RECORD

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Historians are very busy these days at 512 Fifth Avenue, the newly-opened headquarters of the Second Division Association, that organization of ex-regimental commanders formerly commanded by Major General John A. Lejeune, writing up and illustrating its fighting record which, it was announced today, is to appear in book form about January 1.

The officers were opened here for the additional purpose, it is said, of enabling the veterans to keep in touch with their old "buddies," whose first annual reunion will be held in Chicago in November. Captain James Sharp, formerly of the 23rd Infantry, is in charge. General Lejeune is president of the organization. Brigadier General Preston Brown is vice-president and Major C. Beckman Hoppin, of 45 Wall street, is secretary.

THREE-TOED MOUNTAIN LION MEETS WATERLOO

By the Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 15.—Nemesis has overtaken the famous three-toed mountain lion, terror of Vesta creek district. For six years the brute waxed war on the ranchers of a busy, prosperous valley. It slaughtered hundreds of sheep and cattle and was a menace to children. Dozens of expeditions organized to exterminate the pest saw weary hunters return home unsuccessful. A maimed foot clearly established the identity of the animal where-ever it took toll of the ranchers' flocks and herds.

Recently the animal became especially active. It appeared to have a blood-thirst and slew for the sake of killing. The lion's depredations became so serious that a great hunt was organized with half a dozen big packs of dogs.

The three-toed killer attacked a flock of sheep and slaughtered eleven of them. This gave the dogs a start and they treed the brute near Brooklyn, Wash. In the interim it had slain three cattle.

Owen Burke, of Montezano, drew first blood, getting a bullet into the cougar as it sprang at the dogs. The dog soon followed, and now the valley ranchers sleep peacefully at night.

Notice to Masons.
The school of instruction at Ada Lodge No. 119, A. F. & A. M., will be open for work at 8 o'clock this evening. All Masons who are interested are invited to be present.

Clear the Track

Coal Supply In City Only 2 or 3 Weeks Ahead

By the Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 15.—That Oklahoma City, in fact all of the southwest, is facing a severe coal shortage this winter, is the consensus of coal dealers here, expressed yesterday. One large dealer says as fast as he gets carloads in, it is unloaded direct to workmen and hauled to customers, allowing him to get no surplus in his bins.

Another large dealer says his company has about thirty carloads on hand in the bins, totaling approximately 1,200 tons, but says this would last not more than thirty days if a sudden cold wave were to hit the city.

Coal is being received by the dealers at the rate of about three to seven carloads a week, but is fast being used by orders already on file, allowing small chance of surplus stock.

Prices are considerably higher than at this time last year, ranging from 70 cents to $1.50 a ton more than 1918. A recent notification of a further advance of 50 cents a ton has just been received, say the dealers.

The twenty-first district, composed of Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas and Texas, is facing one of the most serious problems of the history of coal mining, in the opinion of coal dealers here. The miners have already notified the operators of their demands when the present contract runs out November 1, and the operators have notified labor their demands would make it impossible to continue operations of the mines.

The miners' demands are a six-hour day, a five-day week, and approximately 65 per cent increase in wages. As a result, the southwest faces having its coal supply shut off after the first of the month.

In the opinion of dealers here, if such should occur, this city would be practically without coal within two or three weeks.

TWO CASES AGAINST NELSON HAWKINS

Nelson Hawkins, an Indian who lives southeast of town and who is possessed of a bad reputation, was brought before Judge Brown this morning and made bond for appearance in two cases. He is charged in one count of carrying a pistol. Another charge alleges that he removed stock that was under restraint. Some of his animals broke out of pasture and trespassed on a neighbor, who took them in charge. It is said that Hawkins went and took the animals without paying for the damages they had done. His trial is set for the 29th of October.

Auto Thieves Send Insurance Rates Sky High

By the Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15.—Lieut. B. W. Maynard, flying from San Francisco to Mineola, N. Y., on the return trip of the transcontinental air derby, left Salduro, Utah, for this city at 8:48 o'clock, Pacific time, this morning. He will lose one hour in time in the one hundred-mile flight from Salduro to this city.

Every automobile owner in this country is helping to pay for machines that have been stolen. They are paying for the cost of thievery in many ways, but practically through the tremendous increase in their insurance rates that have swept the country from coast to coast. Today it costs anywhere from double to fifteen times as much to insure a car as it did four years ago.

The failure to recover the stolen car in one case out of three has been responsible for this high increase in insurance costs.

Even motor locks do not seem to deter the expert thief. The theft of cars from private garages is a growing business. A motor car owner cannot protect his property by locking it securely and then applying a lock to the car itself.

Every possible assistance should be rendered to support the measure of Congressman L. C. Dyer of St. Louis, designed to check this evil. The bill makes it a crime punishable by ten years' imprisonment to steal a car and take it across the border of the state in which it is stolen.

Under existing laws the state in which a car is stolen cannot summon as witnesses, the person to whom a car is sold, if these persons live in another state. The Dyer bill makes provision for this weakness in our present statutes, and should receive the hearty support of every automobile owner in the United States.

The motorist who thinks he has not felt the hand of the despicable automobile thief, merely because he has been fortunate enough to escape the ravages of the organized bands that make a practice of stealing cars, is looking at the matter through rose-colored glasses.

CITY SUED FOR $10,000 DAMAGE

By the Associated Press

A. P. Bond and Nancy Bond, sue County Club and City because son drowned.

The Ada Country Club and the City of Ada have been sued for damages in the sum of $10,000 by A. P. Bond and Nancy Bond, whose son was drowned in the city lake more than a year ago. C. F. Green being attorney for the plaintiffs.

In discussing the matter this morning with a News reporter, Maynard or Kitchens said he believed the plaintiffs were on a fruitless chase. "The boy," said the mayor, "went to the lake and went in swimming of his own free will and accord. The act which brought about his death was his own and was entirely out of control of the city. We will fight this case to the highest court before Ada shall lose one penny on it."

PRESIDENT WILSON SHOWS MUCH IMPROVEMENT TODAY

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Wilson had a good night's rest and continues to show improvement, despite a slight headache, according to a bulletin issued today by his physicians.

AIR RACE FLIERS READY FOR RETURN

By the Associated Press

MINEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 15.—With Lieut. B. W. Maynard already off from San Francisco on his return trip to Mineola in the transcontinental air race, three of the fliers who completed the first half of the journey here were ready to get away for San Francisco today if the weather permitted.

Two of the three, Major Spatz and Lieut. E. C. Kiel, had expressed themselves as not anxious to make the return trip but nevertheless were making strenuous preparations for a get-away.

Capt. L. H. Smith, whose unofficial flying time was the lowest of all the fliers in the first half of the race, but who was penalized four hours because of a forced landing near Cleveland, also was ready this morning to start on the homeward flight.

WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; probably rain; colder tonight.

SAVAGE FIGHTING NEAR CITY OF RIGA

A PORTION OF THE TOWN FIRED BY SHELLS AND MANY CIVILIANS REPORTED KILLED.

By the Associated Press

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 15.—Savage fighting is still going on in the city of Riga between Lithuanian and Lithuanian troops and the German-Russian army which entered the western part of the city last week. Reports reaching here state that a portion of the town has been fired by shells and that great damage has been done to the quays and harbors. Many civilians have been killed during battles.

Dispatches received here state all prisoners taken by the Lithuanians have been Bavarians.

British war ships have become involved in the fighting, having been fired upon by German-Russian forces and an unconfirmed report declares a British force has been landed in or near the city.

Blockade measures are being rigidly enforced in the Baltic, six German ships having been captured by one British destroyer.

By the Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 15.—Lieut. B. W. Maynard, flying from San Francisco to Mineola, N. Y., on the return trip of the transcontinental air derby, left Salduro, Utah, for this city at 8:48 o'clock, Pacific time, this morning. He will lose one hour in time in the one hundred-mile flight from Salduro to this city.

DEALING IN COTTON FUTURES DEFENDED

By the Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—Defense of the practice of buying and selling cotton futures was made at yesterday's session of the World Cotton Conference by Randall N. Duffee.

Admitting that there is much harmful speculation in the cotton crop the speaker defended the sale of futures as necessary for the cotton industry. What is needed, he said, is not so much new methods as a better spirit of business dealings.

Transportation of cotton was discussed by W. S. Turner and a plea for uniform classification of cotton was made by D. S. Murph.

At yesterday's session of the conference the question of stabilizing the price of cotton was discussed by Theodore H. Price. John M. Parker spoke on the growing of cotton and W. D. Nesbitt described methods of compressing cotton.

COMPERS SUFFERS A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is confined to his bed in his home here in a state of nervous exhaustion. His temperature this morning was 101 degrees and his physician has ordered him to remain in bed.

Announcement of Mr. Compers' breakdown was made today by his secretary when the National Industrial Conference convened today.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, was elected chairman of the labor group in the conference today, to act for Mr. Compers.

Labor leaders say that if Mr. Compers' illness proves so severe as to make it impossible for him to discharge the duties of president of the federation for any considerable time, the executive council will be called to elect a temporary successor. It was said James Duncan, first vice president of the federation, probably would be designated to act.

WILSON INSISTS THAT BIG CONFERENCE SOLVE PROBLEMS

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—President Wilson will not sanction adjournment of the National Industrial Conference here until it has exhausted every possible means of finding a solution of the present industrial situation. White House officials said today.

SENATOR LODGE SEEING YELLOW

SAYS JAPAN IS BUILDING EMPIRE THAT THREATENS AMERICA AND THE ENTIRE WORLD.

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Japan is building a far eastern empire which will become "a peril to America" and threaten the safety of the world, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Republican leader, declared yesterday in the Senate in urging adoption of his amendments to the peace treaty under which German rights in Shantung would be returned to China instead of being awarded Japan. Steadily and relentlessly, Japan is gaining control of China, Senator Lodge said, and he predicted that she would use China's vast manpower to endanger the safety of both America and Europe.

"It is impossible to see," said Senator Lodge, "how any conscientious American can consent to any act or treaty that will extend the power of such a nation as Japan over a country like China, especially when the United States deliberately drew China into the war with at least an implied if not expressed promise to give assistance and protection at the peace conference."

"The principle argument made by those who sustained the delivery of control of Shantung to Japan is that Japan has promised at different times to return it to China. Whatever promises she has made were ably marked by one vital omission. In no instance did I find that Japan ever fixed a time when she would actually return the province to its rightful owners. To determine what Japan is likely to do it is necessary to consider what she has done for 25 years."

Japan was charged by Senator Lodge with breaking innumerable pledges regarding her course in China and Korea; with violating the "open door" policy; destroying foreign commerce in Manchuria and Korea. Her fundamental policy, he said, had been "steady, relentless aiming to get ultimate control of the vast population and great territory of China."

"As it has been in the past, so it will be in the future in regard to Shantung," he continued. "Japan is steeped in German ideas and regards war as an industry. She means to exploit China and build herself up until she becomes a power formidable to all the world. She will use ultimately the practically unlimited manpower of China for military purposes just as Germany and Austria used in their armies the manpower of the 25,000,000 Slavs, who were utterly opposed to German domination, to promote their schemes of conquest. Japan will be enabled to construct in that way a power which will threaten the safety of the world. She is already advancing in Siberia and with her control there and China developed as she means to develop it, she will threaten Europe."

"But the country that she would menace most would be our own, and unless we carefully maintain a very superior navy in the Pacific the day will come when the United States will take the place of France in another Great War to preserve civilization."

"But there is one other reason even more decisive to my mind than this. It is a great wrong, this giving Shantung over to the control of Japan. Morally it is indefensible, and it is no answer to say that we failed to object to the German seizure of Shantung. As a matter of fact the open door policy of Mr. Hay was the reply to the German movement and for the time arrested it. The president has gone out of his way to say that just so we could trade with these stolen territories we were to let them be stolen. This attack upon the dead is the most repulsive of all those attacks which the President has seen fit to make. If ever there was a disinterested policy it was that of Mr. Hay. We got nothing from it whatever that all the world did not get. The intention of the policy was to save China and prevent further extension of Foreign acquisitions of Chinese territory. But even if it had been otherwise it would be no answer to what it is now proposed to do by this treaty. To say that we should have interfered in behalf of Korea in 1904. Two wrongs never make a right."

After the outbreak of the war the Japanese, Mr. Lodge said, "apparently strengthened their methods of closing an open door and have been more aggressive, if not to say insolent, in their treatment of the Chinese."

In an effort to obtain control of China, Japan has almost forced loans on her, Mr. Lodge declared. "It is the deliberate opinion of both foreign and other observers (Continued on Page Eight.)"

The End of a Perfect Day

PRINCE LEOPOLD LEARNS A LESSON

PRESENTATION OF HONORS WILL BECOME IMPORTANT DUTY WHEN HE ASCENDS THE THRONE.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Prince Leopold, heir apparent to the Belgian throne, was given his first lesson while crossing the ocean on the steamer George Washington in what is likely to become an important duty when he is called to power: the presentation of honors. The men upon whom he bestowed the marks of his favor were American soldiers and sailors who were victors in the games held on board in the Prince's honor. The Prince is visiting America with his parents, the King and Queen of the Belgians.

The scene was staged at the foot of the circular stair case, leading from the deck on which are the Prince's apartments, the soldiers and sailors forming a line across the ship. The Prince was accompanied by Admiral A. T. Long, United States naval aide to the king while he is in the United States; Major W. W. Hoffman, military aide; Captain McCauley, commanding the George Washington; Count d'Outremont, adjutant of the Belgian court, and a number of other Belgian dignitaries.

The Prince, who is only 18 years old and very much a boy, being still a student in an English school, quickly lost his embarrassment when he saw the straight line of athletes before him. He was followed by a sailor bearing a tray on which was a present for each of the visitors. Taking his place at the head of the line and directly in front of it, the Prince signalled the sailor to "standby."

The young naval officer commanding the "detachment" read the name of the first winner, and the sailor, a lad not out of his teens, stepped briskly forward.

The Prince received him with a smile and hearty handshake, congratulating him in perfect English, on his success. He then took a scarlet morocco case from the tray, handed it to the sailor and again shook his hand. The sailor thanked him, saluted smartly, and marched back to his place, neglecting the formality that one is not expected to turn his back on royalty.

When the winners of such events as the wheelbarrow race, the obstacle race, and the "boom-boxing" were called, the Prince smiled at the recollection of the fun those contests had produced, and as a rule the victors smiled with him.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the naval officer marched off his men and the Prince went off to the moving picture show with Count d'Outremont, in the officers' mess, where he was seen many times during the voyage.

The presents were cigarette cases, in solid silver with the royal monograms and enamel pins made by a famous Brussels goldsmith. They were of solid gold, the Lion of Flanders, rampant within a circle set in jewels showing the Belgian national colors.

The men who received the Prince's presents were: L. C. Williams, 42 Henry Street, Brooklyn; G. Kim, Myrtle Point, Oregon; E. A. Skelly, 225 East Twenty-fifth Street, New York City; R. Kilbride, 523 West Seventy-eighth Street, Chicago; I. M. Kilmas, Seymour, Conn.; W. A. Manning, 111 Tenth Avenue, Schenectady, N. Y.; J. J. Kelly, Hartford, Conn.; A. W. Berg, Milwaukee; J. F. Keenan, 226 Sussex Avenue, Newark, N. J.; W. F. Scanlon, Norristown, Pa.

P. J. Dodd, 66 Liberty street, West Orange, N. J.; E. F. Mosbach, Peru, Ind.; H. Wolf, Yonkers, N. Y.; F. DeRoscoe, South Bethlehem, Pa.; W. H. Green, Greeley, Neb.; J. W. Woods, Hartford, Conn.

Prince Leopold, who also bears the title of Duke of Brabant, is a keen sportsman, and during the entire voyage kept in excellent physical condition. Not a day went by when he failed to box a given number of rounds, and he was seen frequently on deck playing "ship tennis." At the games he occupied a ringside seat, and was particularly interested in the boxing bouts.

BREAKERS AHEAD FOR LLOYD GEORGE

TWO CHARGES OF DYNAMITE HAVE BEEN LAID TO BLOW UP ENGLISH HOUSE OF PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Two charges of dynamite are being laid that will blow this parliament sky high when it reassembles for the fall session. The chief interest naturally centers on where Lloyd George will land after the explosion.

One charge is being laid by those who want protection against German toys and American motor cars and a few other things, the other is a liberal-labor bomb. Opinions are expressed that Lloyd George will lie down between them and let the explosions pass over his head, possibly to be buried in the debris. Few believe that he will be seriously injured, however, although point has been given to rumors of his political retirement by reported negotiations for a thousand dollar a minute lecture tour in the United States. But however little damage may be done by Lloyd George, the end of this parliament is in sight and a general election is assured within a reasonable time, much to the relief of those who feared a worse fate for a parliamentary majority that seemed unassailable by any but the dangerous weapon of direct action.

Emergency Made Policy.

Every effort has been made by the government to smother the Protectionist dynamite by the adoption of an emergency trade policy, a purely arbitrary sliding scale of penalties on imports. This they are finding is only like stamping on a burning fuse that is constantly re-lighted. Politically it is an ingenious and practical policy, but industrially it satisfies neither the buying public, who welcome cheap imports as a means of reducing prices, nor manufacturers, who want to be able to regulate their selling prices in advance. The next time the House of Commons touches this Protectionist infernal machine, it will go off right under the Coalition benches.

The other explosive is a compound which is being experimented with in the provinces where whenever Liberal and Labor elements are associated in a by-election the Coalition candidate gets hurt. The exact placing of the charge in the House of Commons will be where the Liberal-Coalition benches touch those of their conservative allies. Negotiations between Independent Liberals and Coalition Liberals have been successfully held for that purpose.

Liberals Urged to Unite.

Liberals of all shades are now being urged to unite on a platform which can, when necessary, be erected alongside that of labor and used as a single stage, the invitation being issued by a joint committee of Coalition Liberals (rebellious Georgians) and Independent Liberals (Asquithians). Its structure differs hardly at all from the declared policy of the Parliamentary Labor party. The nationalization of coal mines and all means of communication and "general services which are of the nature of a monopoly," is declared to be "inevitable" and "unavoidable." The government must have the right to acquire land at a price of its taxation assessment. Free trade must be restored. A levy on capital must supplement the existing taxation. Ireland must have home rule as nearly approximately Dominion Rule as her situation permits. All expeditions and subventions in money for munitions for partisan leaders in Russia must cease.

Nationalization New Demand.

With the exception of nationalization these are all normal demands of a Liberal Party. Nationalization is one hand put out to labor; the other hand is offered no less frankly in the committee's industrial policy. "Effect should be given to the principle of self government in industry." This is labor's specific new demand; with its acceptance by a united Liberal party the prophecy of the Liberal-Labor coalition as the next government is as safe as that of eclipses.

But it is almost equally certain that this coming coalition will not include the Labor party as a whole. As a left wing party the Labor party is susceptible to the influences which have caused a split in every left wing party in political experience. For a time the party advances in unity, but the nearest it comes to the goal of its political ambition, the more liable it is to become divided in its counsel. This natural fissure between moderates and extremists (mensheviks and bolsheviks) has overtaken every left wing party on the continent and became inevitable in England from the moment the issue of direct action was raised by the extremists. Labor's Parliamentary committee at once showed its moderation by refusing to consider any action except that which is its own functions; the same division of opinion was strikingly exhibited at the Trade Union Congress, that is the congress of industrial organizations which support the Labor Parliamentary committee. As this division widens the possibility of political cooperation between Labor moderates and Liberals comes more into the field of practical politics. Nothing has yet been said openly about such a possibility in labor circles; the understanding between the two parties is extreme Right, where he now finds himself. Yet he will need all his extraordinary political skill to return as a leader to those who today dub him a traitor alike to radicals and Labor; as in various recent by-elections, Liberals will give way to Labor candidates where the latter are strong and vice versa. Coalition of the two parties will come after the election if they find as is confidently expected, that neither one nor the other is strong enough in Parliament to form a government and support it exclusively by its own votes.

Condition is Possible.

The way is still open for Lloyd George to lead such a coalition, but migration of Independent Liberals that is all that can be said for his chances at present. He is keeping in personal touch with the men who can hold the way open for him. Lloyd George is no ordinary politician, and if he remains in politics he is unlikely to share the ordinary fate of other great politicians whose political life has been a long journey from the extreme Left to the extreme Right, where he now finds himself. Yet he will need all his extraordinary political skill to return as a leader to those who today dub him a traitor alike to radicals and Labor; as in various recent by-elections, Liberals will give way to Labor candidates where the latter are strong and vice versa. Coalition of the two parties will come after the election if they find as is confidently expected, that neither one nor the other is strong enough in Parliament to form a government and support it exclusively by its own votes.

to the growing force of Labor, leaving Asquith isolated and the Georgian Liberals in the trap of the Center Party set by Churchill and eyed with a mixture of favor and suspicion by Lloyd George; while on the right, the better Conservative traditions would be upheld by another group under the leadership of Lord Robert Cecil.

In any case, whatever the present and immediate future disruptions in English party politics, the traditions of the country are so strongly imbued with the two party system that the groups now in formation will in course of time settle down in a new alignment of conservatives and progressives.

Give Me a Friendly, Natural Hand-shake

an' a friendly natural tobacco. Keep yo' put-on airs an' "sauced-up" tobaccos for the fellow that likes nut sundaes better than home made pie—

So says a friend of ours named Velvet Joe. And he just about hits the nail on the head.

Velvet is made for men who think there's no smoke like real tobacco. If you are that sort of man, listen:

Velvet was born in old Kentucky, where more than one good thing comes from. It was raised as carefully as any other Kentucky thoroughbred. But the real secret of Velvet's friendly qualities is its slow natural ageing in wooden hogsheads. Ageing in the wood never hurt anything—and least of all, tobacco.

And so we say, Velvet is good tobacco—nothing more or less. It runs second to none.

The picture of the pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

The Town Gossip

DURING THE course,
ONE TIME or another,
OF MY existence,
I'VE HAD folks to find fault,
BECAUSE I was careless,
AND NOT neat enough,
ABOUT MY belongings,
OR THE way I left my clothes,
ABOUT THE room,
OR BRUSHED my hair,
AND OTHER things,
BUT I don't know,
BUT SOMETIMES it seems,
AS THOUGH neatness,
CAN BE overdone,
AND I had an example of it,
THE OTHER evening,
AND IN the morning,
WHILE I was dressing,
I PULLED out a clean collar,
AND HAPPENED to notice,
THAT THERE were several,
IN THE bunch,
THAT WERE kind of frayed,
AND I held an inventory,
AND THREW on the floor,
ALL OF those collars,
THAT WEREN'T any good.

AND LEFT them there,
AND FORGOT all about them,
AND IN the evening,
WHEN I came home,
AND TOOK a bath,
LIKE I sometimes do,
I OPENED the drawer,
WHERE MY collars room,
AND PULLED out one,
AND IT was frayed,
AND I tried another one,
AND IT was frayed,
AND THEN I realized,
THAT MY wife,
HAD VERY carefully,
PICKED UP those collars,
THAT I had thrown away,
IN THE morning,
AND CONSCIENTIOUSLY,
BRUSHED THEM off,
AND PUT them back,
IN THE drawer again,
AND I reckon,
THAT THE only way,
FOR ME to get rid of them,
WILL BE to take them,
DOWN TO the river,
AND DROWN them,
I THANK you.

SEN. OWEN AFTER DIRECTOR BARNES

INQUIRES INTO ACTION OF GRAIN CORPORATION IN PLACING EMBARGO ON WHEAT AND CORN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Inquiry into the course of the United States grain corporation in ordering embargoes on wheat, corn and other grains to restrict exportation was proposed in the resolution introduced today by Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma. The resolution which was referred without discussion to the senate expenditures committee, followed much criticism recently by several senators of Director Barnes of the grain corporation for laying grain embargoes which have brought reduction in prices.

Senator Owen today wired Director Barnes in New York as follows:

"What rotting on ground in western Oklahoma because of your wheat embargo and failure to arrange shipping and transportation. The cost to Oklahoma already amounts to millions of dollars. Have you just learned you have made no application for bottoms and that the shipping board is using its available ships to move coal to Italy while Oklahoma wheat rots on the ground under your administration. I urge you to call on shipping board for suitable ships to move wheat."

The Oklahoma delegation met today in pursuance of call of Representative Scott Ferris for the purpose of taking drastic action regarding the shortage of cars, housing and shipping facilities for handling Oklahoma's tremendous wheat crop. They presented the matter very forcibly to the Railroad administration and arrangements have been made for a meeting with the Western Traffic association at Chicago Wednesday of this week with a view to diverting large shipments of this wheat into the elevators of Duluth and other northern ports.

Wife Sent Whitehurst. Senator Owen has wired J. A. Whitehurst, president of the Oklahoma state board of agriculture, urging him to attend the meeting and to present the matter to Director Barnes, and other officials of the Railroad administration. If it fee and chewing gum. — Greenville becomes necessary a member of the Oklahoma delegation will likewise attend the meeting. Not stopping there, the delegation made a presentation of the matter to John Howard Payne, chairman of the shipping board, and urged that ships be sent to Galveston for the purpose of relieving the congestion there and allowing wheat shipments to be started abroad. Chairman Payne will at once start an investigation to find means for providing tonnage for the moving of the wheat from Galveston.

Barnes is Blamed

The delegation feels that Wheat Director Julius H. Barnes has been guilty of gross neglect in not securing ships from the shipping board to take care of this wheat movement for the benefit of Oklahoma, Texas and Kansas. Chairman Payne is at once having data compiled to determine how much tonnage can be spared for the service and the delegation will make a similar demand on Director Barnes so properly re-question ships from the shipping board.

The Oklahoma delegation has its ire up and will not tolerate any further delay. Congressman Scott Ferris asserts that unless some immediate relief is had a congressional investigation will be asked for. He further states that congress has appropriated one billion dollars to make certain to the farmers a fixed price for their wheat and that the farmer shall not have his rights defeated by a cumbersome handling of the situation by the wheat director.

Story of the Cable Car.

In 1873 on August 1, the first cable car in the world was put into operation at San Francisco. The inventor of the cable system was Andrew Hallidie. The cable cars were introduced into Chicago eight years after their appearance on the Pacific coast and in 1883 were adopted in New York, Washington and Philadelphia and afterward in London.

FERRIS SPEEDS UP SOLDIER LAND BILL

ASKS FOR COMMITTEE TO HANDLE WITH SPEED ALL BILLS AFFECTING RETURNED SOLDIERS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Representative Scott Ferris yesterday submitted a resolution before the house asking that a committee of twenty-one members be appointed by Speaker Gillette, twelve of the majority and nine of the minority, to whom shall be referred all bills and resolutions hereafter introduced during the sixty-sixth congress pertaining to the following subjects: "The civil re-establishment of all honorably discharged officers, soldiers, sailors and marines of the present world war, including all bills, resolutions, or communications relating to their vocational rehabilitation, to their educational facilities, of any kind, to their employment, providing credits for the acquisition of public lands, for their benefit, of providing additional compensation of whatsoever kind or in whatever form, including the bonus, hospital and sanitarium facilities, or homes, or allowing lands, also subjects relating to war risk insurance, and compensation for disabilities incurred in the service, including allowances, and any and all other subjects principally and directly relating to or affecting the status or interests of officers, soldiers, sailors and marines, aforementioned."

"The Mondell soldier land bill," said Mr. Ferris, "was reported from the committee on public lands to the house on August 1, ten weeks ago. The republican membership of the house has had two caucuses about it and have been unable to agree upon it."

"The soldiers over the country are passing resolutions against it, and are apparently opposed to it, without any criticism of the public land committee of which I am a member. It appears that it has reported a bill in the interest of reclamation and in the interest of the development of the western states, but noticeably wanting, not feasible or acceptable in the eastern and middle western states."

"The soldiers are worried about it. The soldiers are discouraged. They are anxious to know what congress is going to do. They are discouraged over the fact that congress is doing nothing in their behalf; murmurs are well founded. The session of congress is soon to adjourn and nothing has been done, and unless we can get a new committee and get some new blood injected into the soldiers' land policy the whole matter is going to fail."

"It should not fail; it must not fail. America must do her duty to her soldiers."

Nature's Plain Advertisements.

Do you realize that nature's advertisements are the oldest and the plainest and the most dependable advertisements to be found anywhere? Do you realize that man has progressed and prospered in proportion to his ability and disposition to read and study the advertisements that nature presents to him?

The farmer or the farmer's wife who takes the prizes at the fair and gets the best crops or raises the best chickens have studied these advertisements of nature.

They believe in nature's trade marks that identify quality in seed or in chickens or any of her other products. They never plant seed or set eggs with no ancestry or reputation.

When farmers began to read nature's advertisements more carefully, they quit planting too much dead corn.

When farm women learned to read nature's advertisements, they eliminated infertile eggs without waiting three weeks to find out whether or not they would hatch.

Nature standardizes all her operations. She places that little germ in the same place in every good grain of corn. She gives it a certain definite and easily distinguishable appearance, so that if the farmer has studied nature's advertisements at all carefully he will know whether nature has made a mark on a grain as live and strong and sure to grow, or weak or dead and incapable of producing a stalk with an ear on it.

The same thing is true with the eggs. Nature's advertisement will tell the farm woman positively whether an egg is hatchable or not long before the hen or the incubator has wasted three weeks on a batch that are infertile.

Most people who make a failure of their crops or their hatches of chickens can trace their failure to the fact that they could not read nature's perfectly plain advertisements or they did not act on what they did read.

The successful farmer or the successful chicken raiser reads the advertisements of nature. They study them. They rely on them. They discard the seed or the egg that does not carry nature's trade mark of life and vitality.

Every advertiser in The Ada News is following the good example set by nature. He standardized his product. He has made marked it so that it can be known and recognized.

He has announced the merits of his product in his advertising just as nature announces the future delivery of a good ear of corn when she sends forth a strong healthy stalk of rich green color.

When you plant corn or set eggs of a strain that for generation after generation has produced well, you are much more certain of satisfactory results than if you used seed or eggs from stock that had no established reputation.

The same thing is true of merchandise. The product with a definitely established reputation, backed by a reputable dealer's guarantee of honesty and square dealing is safe and certain and economical because serviceable.

High Living Cost

Fight Is too Slow

For Mr. Palmer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Dissatisfied with the progress of the government's fight against the high cost of living, Attorney-General Palmer late yesterday held a conference with three members of the cabinet and four other government officials in an attempt to co-ordinate the activities of a number of federal agencies.

Secretary of the Treasury Glass, Secretary of Agriculture Houston, Secretary of Labor Wilson, Victor Munkford, acting chairman of the federal trade commission, Walker D. Hines, director-general of railroads and Assistant Secretaries of the Treasury Leffingwell and Trigg were present at the meeting.

Two of the three months in which the government was expected to make much headway in reducing living costs have already gone by and there has been no appreciable reduction. The "ninety day" period was mentioned at the time the shopmen were threatening their strike. Nevertheless, the attorney-general feels the government has done much good because it prevented any further upward trend of prices.

LET IT BE "CONGRESSMAN WEAVER"

The primary election in the Fifth congressional district to determine who will succeed the late Joe B. Thompson will be held Saturday of this week. The claims of the various contestants have been given to the voters. The campaigns of the would-be congressmen have about closed, and there remains little doubt of the outcome, so far as we are able to judge at this distance. That Claud Weaver will be the nominee, there seems little doubt at this time.

And who can represent Oklahoma in congress better than Claud Weaver? He formerly lived at Pauls Valley and is now a resident of our capital city. He is a man who knows the needs of the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer and the organized worker. He is honest, daring and frank. Unlike the politician for revenue only, he got out of the post office when he decided to make the race for congress. Not only the Fifth congressional district, but all of Oklahoma will be proud of Congressman Weaver.

THE STEEL STRIKE

Since the opening day the steel strike has been watched in its every detail by the public men and students of industrial conditions in Washington. The steel industry has asked for no sympathy, and evidently the public mind is concerning itself but little regarding the interests involved in the ownership and management of the industry. But it is a very patent fact that Washington is overwhelmingly convinced that the steel strike is the result of an unreasoning exercise of the power of bad influences over great groups of foreign-born laborers who have centered in this industry.

THOU SHALT NOT EARN

One of the most extraordinary suggestions, outside the soviet doctrine incorporated in the so-called Plumb plan for running the railroads, is contained in the Cummins bill for the taking over of the railroads under private ownership and management, to be operated under government control. The Cummins bill provides that if any railroad shall earn more in any year than a "fair return upon a fair value" the entire surplus earned shall be taken from the railway company earning it. It evidently did not occur to the framers of the proposed legislation that a penalty would be placed upon increased efficiency, since the legitimate profits earned by any wide-awake and profitable railroad would accrue to the government. The opinion of Charles Evans Hughes is that such legislation would be unconstitutional, and no matter what may be the individual opinion of Mr. Hughes as a republican leader, the fact is not to be lost sight of that he was very recently, a highly esteemed member of the United States Supreme Court. Therefore his viewpoint concerning this feature of the Cummins bill has been given the most thoughtful consideration on Capitol Hill.

Congress has resolved the railroad transportation question into a problem of credit almost entirely. There seems to be an unwillingness on the part of any law-makers to pull the lever open in such a way that railroad initiative, industry, economy and good management will obtain their best results. One senator, who has progressive ideas upon the subject, puts the problem in a nut shell when he says that "one of the absolutely essential provisions in any legislation calculated to solve the railroad problem permanently must be encouragement of efficiency in operation." He adds that any plan that would take away everything except what the rate-making authority determines is a fair return, would remove all incentive to efficiency after a fair return is made. Another class of senators and representatives are still playing upon the public prejudices against the railroads and other forms of big business to such an extent that they are unwilling, even in the face of the conviction entertained by the administration leaders, and the best republicans in congress, to support measures which the experiences of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the railroad administration show to be essential, if the transportation systems of the country are to be placed upon a safe and sound basis of operation.

LEAGUE OF COTTON NATIONS ADVISED

NEED FOR SUCH ORGANIZATION
CRIS ALLOD, SAYS W. IRVING
BULLARD AT COT-TON CONFERENCE.

By the Associated Press
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15.—A League of Cotton Nations was advocated here today by W. Irving Bullard, of the Merchants National Bank of Boston, speaking to the World Cotton Conference.

Urging the necessity of a world cotton federation, Mr. Bullard declared that the world's need of harmony and understanding was no less economic than as an insurance of political peace and progress. The need cries aloud over a war-torn world, he said, for a spirit of co-operation and mutual service in cotton.

America's task and problem, the speaker pointed out, is primarily the raising of cotton. The spinning of cotton concerns such a nation as England, but the world supply of cotton, of machinery, of yarns and fabrics is a world affair. By a world federation benefits would result to both the consumer and the producer.

Although the Peace Treaty safeguards the Allies from German control of aniline dyes still the fear of German domination in the field remains and the need of a federation is here apparent, he asserted. Individual credit standings in all countries could be kept track of by a federation acting as a general servant and safeguard.

A world federation could do much to better the international handling of cotton, he continued. Better warehouses could be provided, transportation facilitated and, by a co-ordinated system regulating the flow of cotton, warehouse receipts would be much stronger collateral.

All the continued help that science can give is needed by the cotton industry, Mr. Bullard said. By means of a federation the progress made in every country would be at the service of each one. Commercial intelligence could be raised to a higher degree of efficiency by utilizing the various consular services, departments of commerce and trade commissions.

Need of common watchfulness or defense of common interests against policies or agitators may arise at any time, the speaker concluded, and while the men of the cotton world join in wanting justice and equity there may be need to guard against economic injustice. Here he said is where cotton can do its part toward the federation of the world and the brotherhood of man.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 19

JESUS IN PETER'S HOME.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:29-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—Jesus said unto him, this day is salvation come to this house.
—LUKE 1:9.
ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—Matt. 8:14-15; Luke 4:38-44.

1. Healing of Simon's Wife's Mother

(vv. 29-31).
1. A loved one (v. 30). From the synoptic Jesus with James and John went to the home of Peter and Andrew where he found Peter's mother-in-law prostrate with a burning fever. Among the closest followers there are suffering ones and anxious and burdened hearts, but to all such he comes with loving sympathy and power to help. His power is the same in the quietude of the home as in the public meeting place.

2. They tell him of her (v. 31). This was the proper thing to do. We should bring to our Saviour's attention those of our families who have need, of both bodily and spiritual healing.

3. He healed her (v. 31). "He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up." This act showed the nearness, sympathetic tenderness and power of Jesus. At his touch the fever departed and strength was imparted to her body so that she was at once able to minister unto them.

4. She ministered to them (v. 31). This act shows that (1) the cure was instantaneous and complete. When Jesus heals there is no halfway business. It is the same with spiritual healing. (2) Gratitude on the part of the one healed. Those who have experienced the healing power of Jesus will express their gratitude in loving service to the Lord and his disciples.

II. Christ's Ministry at Sunset

(vv. 32-34).
It became noised abroad that a notable miracle had been wrought in Peter's home, therefore as soon as the Sabbath drew in a close many demon-possessed and diseased were brought to him to be healed. If we would have the crowds to gather today we must be able to show that Jesus is at work among us. Our testimony should be backed by the healed body or soul.

1. He healed those of diverse diseases (v. 34). Jesus can heal any disease. Many of the cures spoken of to-day are temperamental, but the cures wrought by Jesus were of all sorts. No malady ever baffled him.

2. Cast out many devils (v. 34). The devils obey him. There is no record of a demon ever disputing the authority of Jesus. At his command they rendered instant obedience.

3. Suffered not the devils to speak (v. 34). He bids the saved soul witness of his saving power, but will not allow the devils to speak in challenge of his authority or in witness of the truth of his deity.

III. Jesus Retires to Pray

(v. 35).
The arduous service of the day made it desirable to be alone with the Father in prayer. Shut out from man—alone with God. How necessary the hush of the eternal, the calm of God! There is great need of private prayer.

IV. Preaching Throughout Galilee

(vv. 38, 39).
He continued steadfastly to preach, for this was his supreme business. His miraculous works were but aids to his testimony. Preaching the gospel is the chief concern of all who would follow Jesus.

Harmony.

It is a beautiful and blessed world we live in. The flowers blossom in obedience to the same law that keeps the stars in their places. Each bird song is an echo of the universal harmony. It is humanity which thrusts discords, and false and jarring notes into the days. We go out into the beautiful morning carrying our useless loads of frets and worries, our left-over resentments and our faithless fears. The sunshine assures us that the world is still moving safely in its appointed course and God has not forgotten us; the birds lift their cheering notes of rejoicing that they have found food for the day, but we lift complaining voices because we have not found provisions for years to come. Our moody spirits and jarring tempers hurt the love on earth and in heaven. But they hurt our own souls most of all, for they put us out of tune with the music of the universe.

Success.

The great highway of human welfare lies along the old highway of steadfast well-doing; and they who are the most persistent, and work in the truest spirit, will invariably be the most successful; success treads on the heels of every effort.—S. Smiles.

Honest Prayer.

We must be often, and alone, with God, and there at his feet we must pour out our hearts and ask his richest blessing upon our united endeavor. "To pray," says Fenelon, "is to desire; but it is to desire what God would have us desire. He who desires not, from the bottom of his heart, offers a deceitful prayer."

No Greater Enemy.

Though all things do to harm with him what they can, no greater enemy to himself than man.—Bart of Stirling.

Stepmother Sends Youth To Disgrace by Innocently Demanding Name 'Mother'

Strong Audience Appeal in Unique Domestic Situation in "Bill Apperson's Boy" person's Boy.—With Jack Pickford.

"Bill Apperson's Boy," in which Jack Pickford will be seen at the American theater, starting Thursday is a story showing a keen insight in the ways of the Blue Ridge mountaineer. It is based on the story, "That Woman," by Hapsburg Liebe, a writer who has long lived in that vicinity and dozens of whose stories have appeared in the popular periodicals.

His Typical Mountain Traits. Jack Pickford plays Buddy Apperson, the leading character, who is pictured as a boy of about eighteen. In a rapid series of humorous and serious events the picture delves deeply into the heart of the mountaineer, depicting his bravery, his devotion to the memory of his mother, his stubbornness, his independence, and his bashful love.

Buddy is represented as a lad who has just fallen in love with Martha Yarnon, the only girl in a family of six sons who are more or less trifling. Buddy steadfastly urges his suit despite the jeers of the Yarnon boys until an open break comes about. One of the Yarnons makes a slighting remark about Buddy's father, Bill Apperson, whereupon Buddy attacks him, and a long fierce fight follows. At the end of it Buddy has the Yarnon lad thoroughly whipped.

Family Feud Begins. This is the opening wedge in a suit which opens between Martha and Buddy. When his father brings home a new wife, and asks Buddy to call her "Mother," the lad refuses, and leaves home. He is found inside the home of the Yarnons at night, under auspicious circumstances, tried for burglary, and has many other troubles before he is finally united with Martha in the midst of a reconciled group of Appersons and Yarnons.

The picture was made in a beautiful mountainous region, and the mountaineer types used in it were specially selected from natives of the region. Gloria Hope, a very pretty young screen star has the part of Martha Yarnon, and the part of Bill Apperson is played by Russell Simpson, one of the finest actors of mountaineer and western types on the screen.

Her Quiet Ways

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union)

He never forgot the few lively, almost riotous weeks that followed his graduation. Leslie Warren had won, the best college prizes. His father was more than ready to start him in business in a good way. And there was Norma Waldron!

Succeeding the period of vacation and festivity awarded by his student friends, there had come a week spent at Hazelwood, the palatial country home of the Waldrons. About a selected dozen were invited. Norma and her closest college girl friends were the hostesses and from the start Leslie had been attracted by Norma, and at the finish it was pretty generally believed that there would be a match.

Norma was a veritable madcap. It never occurred to Leslie that his staid, eminently, conservative parents would never receive as prospective daughter-in-law a romp, a mere butterfly of flashiness, folly and mischief. The practical phase of marriage he had never paused to consider. It was the last evening of his visit when he managed to get Norma alone to himself. "Norma," he said, "there is something I must tell you before we part."

She slipped from his caress and moved away with tantalizing swiftness and grace.

"Don't spoil it all!" she responded. "Wait till we meet again."

"But when?" he remonstrated.

"Very soon—I promise it. Then you shall tell me all your troubles."

"Troubles? You mean the cause of my alternate delirious hopes and blackest despair?"

"Listen—they are coming. They will be here in a few moments. Ruth Glidden has invited me to spend a week at Oakhurst. You know her brother Percy well. I will so arrange it that you, too, shall be there during my stay. Is not that enough to sustain your hopes and banish your despair, my loyal and trusted chivalier?"

And then she flitted away, a dazzling sprite, and Leslie felt as though the rarest gifts of the gods were laid at his feet. Oh! he was sure he had found unending happiness and he was still more certain of it when Percy Glidden met him one day and said to him:

"This next week of yours belongs to my sister Ruth and Norma Waldron. Of course we can count on you, and Leslie flushed slightly at the sure intimation that his friend was aware of his attachment for Norma. "You see, Norma is so used to excitement and variety and lots of company that it would be pretty dull for her down at Oakhurst. My sister is the dearest, loveliest being in the world, but her quiet ways are in very strong contrast to the dashing, dashing methods of our charming Norma."

The thought of meeting Norma and of having her all to himself greatly relieved Leslie. During that intervening week, however, he had been a good deal disturbed with rumors that his capricious ladylove was acting the flirt and coquette. There was a flashy stranger who was said to be paying her unusual attention.

Leslie knew Percy Glidden well, his sister Ruth only slightly. When he reached Oakhurst and was driven along its quiet streets, it seemed good to him to experience a certain restful calm after the arduous social activity that had become continuous and wearisome. Somehow the old-fashioned home of the Gliddens presented a haven of restfulness. There was a severe disappointment at the start, however.

"Sorry, Leslie," Percy Glidden told him, "but Norma is not coming until next week—some important engagements is her plea. Do you think you can stand seven lonely days of our dull routine?"

"Give me a hammock and a book and I'll be the very peaceablest being in the world, Percy," declared Leslie.

A grand old place it was, indeed, and within twenty-four hours it seemed as though a salutary spell was cast over the volatile spirits of the guest. He had always known that Ruth, with her quiet ways, was a strong contrast to Norma, but now, as those quiet ways accorded with the sweet, soothing peacefulness of her environment, Leslie began to take an interest in her that absorbed him. Gracious, gentle, almost queenly in her quiet, girlish dignity, when he was not in her presence a strange new influence seemed to have come into his existence.

What was it—new surroundings, the fever of excitement subdued by calm and wholesome environment, or was it an uprising of genuine love quenching the fitful flash of fancy? Leslie seemed to have entered upon a new life. The house, its occupants, all nature appeared in harmony complete with rational enjoyment, and Leslie was sorry when that week neared its end.

He was uneasy. He was almost tempted to leave Oakhurst, not caring to again meet the old idol of his dreams. Then, opening a newspaper that had just come by mail, he read an account of the elopement of Norma Waldron with the man who had once aroused his jealousy.

His spirits were rapt and joyous as he realized the news. He was free—free to woo and win the woman whose loss would have shadowed all his life.

American Legion
Held Big Meeting
On Monday Night

The Norman Howard post of the American Legion, of Ada, held a meeting at the City Hall Monday night, at which the post transacted quite a deal of important business.

In the first place, it was decided to send five delegates to the state convention of the American Legion to be held in Oklahoma City on Oct. 21. The delegates selected were as follows: Chas. L. Orr, Lowrey H. Harrell, Hugh Taylor, Sam Scheinberg, A. R. Chandler; alternates: Paul Cary, Harmon Eby, Tyree Durick, J. T. Crawford.

On vote of those present a committee was appointed to solicit voluntary contributions from among members to pay the expenses of the delegates to the state convention.

A program committee was appointed to prepare some form of entertainment for future meetings of the post. Those composing the program committee are Paul Young, Conn Roach, Longley Fenton and Carlyle Gowing.

The soldiers' benefit bills now before congress were discussed but no definite action was taken on any of them at the meeting, it being decided best to send the delegates to the state convention uninstructed.

SENTENCED TO PEN

Harry (Fuzzy) Williams went before the district judge this morning and entered a plea of guilty on a charge of grand larceny and was given a year and a day in the penitentiary. He and Tuck Price, a negro, sometime ago held up Cornelius Nelson, an Indian, in Negro town, and took off of him $15 in money and a watch. The negro was sent to the penitentiary some months ago.

"Dad" Morris, who lives on East Fifteenth street, had his horse stolen some time during last night. It is not known whether he has any clue to the theft but it is known that horse stealing is becoming common about the city. On Sunday night John Thrasher's horse was stolen but recovered the next day. Mr. Thrasher's horse was lame from a wire cut and when the thief found that he couldn't get away easily he hitched the horse in the alley back of the Ada Seed and Feed Company, where Mr. Thrasher found him the following morning.

PRESIDENT UNITED MINE WORKERS TO WASHINGTON

By the Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 15.—John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, today wired Secretary of Labor Wilson that he would be in Washington at 11 o'clock Friday morning, Oct. 17, for a conference on the bituminous coal mine situation. He announced, however, that in the meantime, the order calling on all union bituminous coal miners in the country to go on strike Nov. 1 would be mailed from the International headquarters in this city to the 4,000 local unions of the organization.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 15.—Mr. Lewis said it was impossible to hold up the strike order now but that the mailing of it did not necessarily mean that the strike would follow. If an agreement should be reached in Washington at the conference with Secretary of Labor Wilson it was said the order could be countermanded pending the vote of the miners in another convention.

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—The order calling all union bituminous coal miners of the country to "cease production of coal at midnight on Friday, Oct. 31, 1919," was issued from international headquarters of the United Mine Workers of America here at noon today. The order is signed by John L. Lewis, acting president and William Green, secretary of the miners.

OCCUPIES SAME PULPIT HELD BY JOHN WESLEY

By the Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 17.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The Rev. Walter H. Armstrong, who began the other day his ministry at Wesley's Chapel here where he occupies John Wesley's own pulpit, once sold papers in the London streets. He earned about 10 cents a day as a newsboy. When eleven years old he left school and became a telegraph messenger and later a postman. Then he began to devote his evenings to studying for the ministry. After serving as a missionary in the Far East, he returned to England and conducted the largest men's religious meetings in London, with an attendance of 2,000 Sunday after Sunday.

According to the British press, his virile personality is bound to leave an impression on the life of the famous church which was the center of Wesleyan Methodism.

"It is not my intention," he said, "to start anything sensational. My belief is that the church exists not to set its sail for every wind that blows, but to raise the whole standard of life. I believe in the application of Christian principles to every aspect of modern life. A narrow Christianity is no Christianity at all."

When A Child Has Croup

Thousands of mothers say Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is the best remedy for croup they know. It cuts the thick choking mucus, clears away the phlegm, opens air passages and eases hoarseness. The gasping, strangling fight for breath gives way to quiet breathing and peaceful sleep. T. J. McCall, Athens, O., writes: "We have used Foley's Honey and Tar in our home for years and find it invaluable for coughs and colds—especially for croup for our children. We are never without it and cannot too highly recommend it." Sold everywhere.

HART.

Everybody is wanting to see the sun shine so we can get to pick some cotton.

Singing was well attended at Mr. Wall's Sunday night.

Miss Zettie McKnight and Miss Minnie Essery were the Saturday night guests of the Misses Mamie and Mabel Proctor.

Mr. Roy Lewis and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday and Sunday night with relatives near Corley.

We are sorry to say that Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brooks' baby is very ill at present. We hope it will soon recover.

Miss Elsie Wall visited Miss Alice Wright Sunday.

Quite a number of the young folks were the Sunday afternoon guests of Miss Zettie McKnight.

Misses Gladys White and Mona Posey went horse back riding Sunday afternoon, both reporting a fine time.

Mr. Dave Messer and family visited John Jeffrey and family Sunday.

We noticed that Mr. Odie Duty, Miss Zettie McKnight and Mr. Truby Posey were out car riding Sunday afternoon. Mr. Wall said they came over to help him make syrup, but being as it was Sunday he was not working.

Mr. Hobart McKnight and Dee Richard transacted business in Stratford Saturday and Sunday night.

Mr. Clarence McLong of Vanass visited with relatives in Hart Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. McKnight was the Sunday afternoon guest of Mrs. Rogers.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today.

High School Notes.

The Ada High School Cadet Band is making fine progress, having ordered their books Monday. Their director, Mr. A. L. Fentem, says they will have their first concert in about six weeks. Most of the members have had experience, one or two being all that are taking beginners' lessons. The uniforms is the same as the military company except for the collar insignia which will be decided on later.

The different classes meet with their sponsors on Tuesday, twice a month at which time any particular business is transacted.

Once a month the classes render a program planned previously by a committee appointed by the president of each class.

COTTON CONFERENCE HEARS FROM ARIZONA

By the Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13.—Growth of the cotton industry in Arizona was traced by Dwight B. Heard today before the World Cotton Conference. In his address on new sources of cotton production, Mr. Heard gave the history of American-Egyptian cotton in the Salt River Valley, Arizona.

In no section of the globe does the sun shine more regularly than in Salt River Valley except in Egypt, he said, and in 1902 it was found by analysis that the Arizona land was almost identical with the soil of the delta lands of Egypt. By government experiments the American-Egyptian cotton known as Pima was developed which last year produced a yield of 34,300 bales in the Salt River Valley.

Because of its immunity from the boll weevil the Salt River Valley does not suffer from the handicap to the industry that other sections of the country bear. Mr. Heard told the conference, and any danger of infection is being curtailed by the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture.

Also, the speaker declared, with the continued increase in the quantity of cotton grown the quality is steadily increasing in uniformity of color, silkiness and strength. It is especially adapted it is claimed, for the manufacture of automobile tires and threads.

WOMAN THINKS SHE IS PRIVILEGED TO TALK

"If anyone ever had a miserable stomach I surely had. It was growing worse, too, all the time. Had severe pains and attacks every ten days or two weeks and had to call a doctor, who could only relieve me for short while. Two years ago last February I took a treatment of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and I have not had a spell of pain or misery since. My friends just wonder that I am looking so well. I feel I am privileged to talk about it." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

DON'T WASTE TIME AND MONEY REMODELING OLD MATERIAL

Dye or Remodel Old Garments Only When the Material Has Enough Wear in It to Warrant Necessary Work and Cost—Buy Only Good Material

"It's all very well," said Mrs. Stanton, "to talk about making over old clothes, but I haven't found that it pays at all."

As Mrs. Stanton leaned forward to answer, the other women of the club leaned back comfortably in their rocking chairs to enjoy more fully this discussion on clothes, the subject so dear to every feminine heart.

"You and I surely have had different results then. Everything I am wearing today has been made over, or at least changed in some way from its original style, and I am sure this suit and blouse are wearing as well as any I might have bought this spring," Mrs. Stanton answered.

"What makes the difference? Your clothes look wonderfully well and those which I have remodeled have that rather forlorn, made-over look at first and show worn places and holes before I have worn them more than a month or so."

"Perhaps it is because, while I buy fewer clothes than you, I get better material in the first place, and always take better care of them than you do. You know you are always looking for bargains and argue that buying cheap things does away with the necessity of brushing, cleaning regularly, and hanging up your clothes carefully, as I do mine."

"I remember, when I bought this suit, there was another one which I liked almost as well for less money, but, since I realized the material in it would look shabby by the end of one year's service, decided on this one. I wore this one quite steadily for two years and then remade it this spring. It can easily be worn another year. In the meantime, I have enjoyed wearing the suit because I have always felt well-dressed and comfortable when I had it on. The happy combination of good material and good workmanship showed in it and I have been contented to get along without any other clothes I might otherwise have been inveigled into buying."

"Well, perhaps that is true of your suit but I doubt whether you have better materials in that blouse than there was in the one I attempted to dye. It was mustard colored, done in that gay embroidery such as everyone was wearing a year ago. I was tired and sick of it, though it was not in the least shabby, so I thought I'd color it. As soon as I put it in water, all the different colors used in the embroidery started running and the result is a smeared rainbow effect."

"Startling Colors Under Suspicion."

"That brings up a point I intended to mention. We, with limited clothes allowances, can't afford to buy clothes that are in good style, perhaps, but extreme. Startling colors and extreme fashions are not allowed in my wardrobe, for they are always expensive and won't remain in good taste for any length of time."

"In the library the other day, I

he said, "that threats and bribery were deliberately used. The purpose clearly was to tie up in Japanese hands the best of the resources of China at a time when other nations were so occupied that they could not interfere. Unless some change is made in these records, China will be seen to be largely mortgaged to the Japanese in such a way and to such an extent that the already acquired rights of other nations will be seriously infringed."

In conclusion, the Republican leader urged adoption of the amendments transferring to China the rights in Shantung given Japan by the treaty.

Award of those rights to Japan, he said, was "a wrong to man and to the cause of freedom and justice."

Charge Five Big Packers Having Grocery Monopoly

By the Associated Press. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 15.—Charges that the five big meat packers of the country are building up a monopoly in the grocery business through their ownership of refrigerator cars and alleged discrimination in their favor by transportation systems were under investigation at a hearing begun here today before Examiner Bartels of the Interstate Commerce Commission on the complaint of the Southern Wholesale Grocers Association, in which more than 2,400 carriers are named as defendants.

The complaint alleges that by shipping groceries in refrigerator cars which are handled on faster trains and with greater dispatch than ordinary freight, the packers gain an advantage over members of the Association who must depend on a much slower movement of their shipments.

Representatives of wholesale grocers and commercial organizations in thirty states are expected to attend the hearings.

Hats That Interpret Autumn

If, in all the varied styles in millinery, there is a single point in common, it is that fall hats interpret the season. They are rich, brilliant, generously trimmed, many of them superb and unusual, and they are refined.

Three ultra-smart examples pictured in the group above may have been selected as exponents of the mode, but three hats selected at random would probably convey the same ideas. The hat at the right of the group is made of black satin ribbon, bordered with gold. The barette is mounted to a band of plain satin ribbon, overlaid with two rows of gold-edged ribbon, and this same ribbon makes the plaited pompadour at the left. Worn with this hat is an overblouse of silk voile made to match the hat by the addition of a collar and wide band of the embroidered ribbon. This hat might be named October.

A pretty velvet turban, with a hint of India in its shape and style, is of velvet that makes itself a background for clusters of grapes. These are made of satin, but then grapes of many varieties on autumn hats and metal tissues account for some of the most beautiful. Sometimes the colors are like those of nature and often they are entirely different. Besides the grapes a generous trimmer has allowed this rich turban a bow of narrow gold ribbon near the back.

A hat and a veil of equal importance, at the left of the group, is to be classed among the unusual and pleasing things that the autumn shopper is always running into. Perhaps this veil was made for the hat, or the hat was made for the veil; at any rate the design shows them to be inseparable. This small turban has a crown of tulle and a veil of a trim of plain dark brown velvet that supports the veil. Straps of velvet, fastened down with metal ornaments, are brought down over the veil at the front, back and sides. Veils and hats have had their fortunes cast together on many a hat fall, where each would fall without the other, but together they make a success.

The Divorce Mill

Doney vs. Doney. Gladys Doney vs. Roy Doney is a case wherein the plaintiff simply alleges that the defendant, her husband, has quit her of his own accord; that she was a good wife and true, and performed all duties incumbent upon her as such. She asks that the bonds of matrimony be dissolved and that she be given such relief as is needed. Bullock & Orr represent the plaintiff.

Viser vs. Viser. A suit for divorce has been filed by Thelma Viser vs. Ed Viser. The plaintiff, Thelma Viser, alleges that the defendant has been guilty of gross neglect of her and their child; that he has not supported them and that she has had to work to take care of herself and the baby; that he was untrue to her and was guilty of associating with women of unchaste and immoral character; that his whereabouts is now unknown.

Wherefore the plaintiff asks for a decree of divorce, custody of their child, and alimony of $15 per month. R. W. Stewart is attorney for the plaintiff.

altogether on the part of the defendant, they had accumulated considerable property, to-wit: An undivided half interest in a tract of land north of Ada; lots 7 and 8, block 2, in Glenwood Addition, with a house on each lot; a half interest in a tailor shop in the city of Ada worth perhaps $2,400.

The plaintiff alleges that she inherited $500 from the estate of her deceased father; that she turned this money over to her husband; and that she does not know how he disposed of it; that he refuses to return to her this money.

Wherefore the plaintiff asks that the court issue a decree of divorce; that defendant be required to put up her attorney's fee and costs of suit; that he pay the plaintiff $50 per month until the suit is finally settled, return to her the $500 in money, which justly belongs to her; that he be restrained from disposing of either real or personal property; and pay an alimony in whatever sum the court may see fit to decree, not to exceed $2500.

GENERAL DENEKINE'S ARMY CAPTURES CITY OF OREL

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Oct. 15.—The anti-Bolshevik army of General Denekine has captured the important city of Orel together with thousands of prisoners and the enormous quantities of material, it was announced in advices received here today. Two batteries of Bolshevik artillery fell into General Denekine's hands.

While Orel is 238 miles south of Moscow, possession of the city will give General Denekine a secure hold on vast stretches of territory in old Russia, as the town is one of the most important railway centers south of the present Russian capital.
